The Telemark Wilderness Lodge is located in Western Maine; it is a private land holding on the edge of the White Mountain National Forest. It is home to a kennel of very sweet, well-trained, highly socialized Alaskan racing huskies; a small herd of friendly llamas; 12 beautiful horses and couple Hackney ponies, and a very large community of hummingbirds who grace us by summering here each year. This is a place where kids and families, for the past twenty-four years, have had healthy, fun, firsthand experiences with animals and nature. Our organic gardens which thrive on the many years of carefully prepared compost and meticulous tending, grow incredibly tasty, vibrant and healthy vegetables. The National Forest surrounds the lodge and offers exceptional views and numerous adventure possibilities.
